AN INTRODUCTION

THE FORMATION

Mulnivasi Vidyarthi Sangh (MVS) is an all India organization of students belonging to Backward (SC, ST, OBC) and Minority (Religious Converted) Communities. It is an organization evolved in the process of spread and strengthening of Phule-Ambedkarite movement by BAMCEF in India. It is an open fact that religious, regional, casteist, linguistic and political entities guided by Brahmanism (the spirit of inequality) create hindrances in forming and running an all India organization of Mulnivasi Bahujan Students. Hence, considering this as an essential challenge that must be shouldered by our students who are the future of this nation and the most potential lot to undertake the mission of social change through social revolution as envisaged in the preamble of the constitution of India, the foundation of Mulnivasi Vidyarthi Sangh has been laid down. It was officially registered at Delhi on 13th July 2017.

INSPIRATION AND DIRECTION

We draw inspirations from the great indigenous leaders of India who have shed their whole life and sacrificed everything for the cause of humanity. Babasaheb Dr. Ambedkar is one of them who led this mission in the Independent India during a very crucial period of making of the constitution of India. It is a historical fact that the all India organization of Backward Classes Students never existed before 12 May 1945 when the foundation of All India Scheduled Castes Students Federation was laid down by Babasaheb Dr. Ambedkar. The first national conference of the same was organized at Bombay (Mumbai) on the same day. That had been an inspirational moment for all the students of Backward Classes in India.

Then onwards the contribution of students in the movement led by Babasaheb was channelized systematically. Later it became much vibrant resulting into a strong leadership that struggled after Babasaheb to keep the caravan moving. The senior leadership of Phule-Ambedkarite movement that is guiding us today is one of the most visible outcomes of the same. Although there were also setbacks to our movement in the form of over-politicization of various non-political roots (organizations) of our movement but there were some members who could take lessons from the setbacks and provide fresh motivation and direction to our movement of self-respect and liberation of masses from the clutches of Brahmanism.

MESSAGE OF BABASAHEB DR. B.R. AMBEDKAR

On 2nd January 1945, in a meeting of Scheduled Castes students organized by Scheduled Castes Federation held at Calcutta, Babasaheb attacked All India Students Federation (a communist organization) and asked the Scheduled Castes students to dissociate themselves from that organization. He also advised them to form a separate organization. Further, he himself actualized this suggestion by forming a student wing attached with Scheduled Castes Federation. In order to explicate the role of students in larger movement, Babasaheb gave a message during second national conference of Scheduled Castes Students' Federation organized between 25-27 December 1946 at Nagpur – “Our boys should learn two things. Firstly, to prove that given the opportunities they are inferior to none in intelligence and in capacity. Secondly, to prove that they are not merely to tread the path of personal happiness but to lead their community to be free, to be strong and to be respected.”

These two messages are very loud and clear in providing direction to the students. This direction is still relevant like a light house in the ocean of confusions that students of backward classes are passing through in contemporary times.

STATUS OF STUDENTS IN UNIVERSITY CAMPUSES

In campuses of central universities in India, there are student organizations established and operated by Brahmanical forces, may they be in the form of communist outfits, right wing (orthodox Brahmanical fold), or centrist. All of them mislead and misuse the students of backward classes in the name of Babasaheb Ambedkar and progressive politics. However, they directly and indirectly propagate Brahmanical terrorism in the college and university campuses. Due to such environment, our students always remain in the traumatized state of mind and surrounded by numerous problems. No doubt some students of our community make efforts to form their own organizations in localized manner but they being narrow in their approaches, limited in operational areas and objectivity fail to develop alternatives to counter Brahmanical forces. Therefore, one has to critically evaluate contemporary situations for long-lasting solutions to the problems of our students.

Our view is to help students to make balance between their primary engagement of studies and developing a powerful organization of students to help themselves to overcome challenges and difficulties in knowledge acquisition and preparing them for real life role performance particularly providing leadership to the society in all walks of life. It is also observed that our students are falsely implicated into the controversial matters created by the Brahminical forces in the campuses. On some concerned matters our students get mobilized but Brahminical students highjack the leadership. Therefore, it is urgently needed to have our independent organization and own leadership to deal with those issues. MVS intends to honestly cater this need.

A copy of the same can be availed by subscribing the membership.

OUR PERSPECTIVE:

1. History and Identity:

Although students live amidst the academically charged atmosphere in the universities but there prevails huge confusion about history of the Indian society. The education system and Brahminical professorship adds oil to the conflagration and further confuses the minds of the students. Babasaheb Ambedkar had rightly pointed out this problem stating that,

“Much of the ancient history of India is no history at all. Not that ancient India has no history. It has plenty of it. But it has lost its character. It has been made mythology to amuse women and children. This seems it have been done deliberately by the Brahminical writers.”

He further maintains that,

“An historian ought to be exact, sincere, and impartial; free from passion, unbiased by interest, fear, resentment or affection; and faithful to the truth, which is the mother of history, the preserver of the great actions, the enemy of oblivion, the witness of the past, the director of the future. In short he must have an open mind, though it may not be an empty mind, and readiness to examine all evidence even though it be spurious.”

Keeping these words in mind when we look at our history we find that we are the indigenous (original inhabitants) people of this land. It is a historical fact that many outsiders had invaded India during various periods but those who had come with an intension to grab natural and material resources from here they did so and went back. However, the Aryans not only settled here but have imposed their dominance on our people. Eventually they have enslaved our people and took over by snatching the governing power by conspiracies after conspiracies. The fundamental strategy they used in the process is of “infiltrate and sabotage”. This strategy is still in operation not only in the arena of political power but also in our social, religious and cultural life.

In this process these intruders have made continuous efforts to damage the essence of humanity and system of democratic republics evolved and nurtured in the Indus valley civilization. They have then brought into practice an inhuman system of casteism and created Brahminical hegemony. We, the real peoples of India are badly suffering from the ill effects of the same. Therefore, it is essential to highlight these facts and propagate our identity as “original inhabitants of India” and mobilize our resources and our masses around this identity because identity is an essential element of any organized society. Secondly, without an identity of befitting intent, intended or aspired organization of the people is an impossible preposition. If we aspire to be a peaceful and developed nation, then we need to mobilize all those who believe in this aim and identity as aspirants and supporters. For such an endeavor a befitting identity to organize them would be the first and foremost requirement. Same way those who believe in the preamble of the constitution of India and want to bring in practice and reality the values and principles of justice, equality, liberty, fraternity, dignity, integrity and unity they must organize themselves under an identity that reflect their intent and provide an evidence of their character, history, strength, weaknesses, needs and compatibility to be the part of this mission. Hence, we have chosen to use our indigenous identity as a national identity to organize ourselves and our people who are the real ‘people’ of India. This shall help us identify our enemies (outsiders) and their character that does not suit to the mission of “equality, liberty, fraternity” as their social character and history provides the evidence of they being loyal to their idea of superiority, purity and dictatorship etc. This way we can easily isolate them for test and treatment to be humanized. This will also help us and all others in the world to be protected out of the wild ideas and practice of satanism (demonism) cherished by Brahmanical forces.

Although, the constitution of India through its opening article declares ‘India’ as “Bharat” but the vested interests and ignorant intellectuals speak it as “Hindusthan”. This is officially wrong and legally incorrect. As per our understanding of the law in India this has to be actually a case of sedition (section 124 of IPC) but this is being overlooked. As per our research on these aspects we have a concluded opinion that India as a state and nation provides protection to the personal beliefs and faiths of the citizens but it is not a nation belonging to a particular religion. However, the Brahminical forces in India try to equate their religion (sanatani/vedic) to Hindu identity as a religious identity and India as a country of only “Hindus” which is factually and historically not true.

2. Brahminical Terrorism in the Educational Institutions:

The educational institutions throughout the country are being dominated and manipulated by the Brahminical forces in their own vested interests. The act of unwarranted domination over others and suppression of rights of others by Brahminical forces is a major cause of unrest and protests by the affected people. It is nothing but a subtle form of Terrorism. The mental pressures exerted over the backward and minority communities by the Brahminical forces in the name of religion and cow nationalism is nothing but a mental torture and hostility of operators of the system in the educational institutions. In India the social system is governed by the Brahminical ideology of superiority, hierarchy, dictatorship, degradation, de-humanization and de-valuation of the majority of population (Mulnivasi Bahujan) by the miniscule priestly class of Aryan Brahmins who hold the charge of the educational institutions in India. Thus, when system terrorizes the people some individual revolt against the system and try to terrorize the system. We, therefore, critically reflect on these issues in the light of the fact that Brahminism is the biggest form of terrorism operating in the educational institutions. In this context, Babasaheb has defined Brahmanism as the “spirit of inequality” that leads to conflicts and therefore commanded us to “Uproot Brahminism”, the root cause of all evils and ruins in India.

3. Polity, Economy, Unemployment and Poverty:

We have a parliamentary democracy in our country which rejects all forms of dictatorships. However, Brahmanical forces are continuously engaged in convincing our people to accept presidential form of democracy. When that is not being accepted by our people then they speak of forming a single largest party and thereby bringing political stability. But in practice they are trying tooth and nail to destroy regional political parties of indigenous people. Also the concept of declaring Prime Ministerial candidate or Chief Ministerial candidate prior to elections is being imposed from their side. This attitude is definitely against the parliamentary form of democracy. Forming nexus with capitalists is against the principle of socialism but Brahmanical forces have brought into practice the liberalization, privatization and globalization – in the form of neo-capitalism. This is very much contradictory to our constitutional position. This neo-capitalism day-by-day is heading towards the crony capitalism and thereby the whole economy of the nation going out of the control of the state. This indicates that nation is going to the ruination in very near future.

The problem of unemployment is the biggest of all from the perspective of youth. It is realized that this has not come into picture in progression of changes in economy but it is a deliberate creation of Brahmanical forces. It is reflected in the hypocritical policy approach of the government. In their public declarations they project themselves committed to the agenda of increasing employment opportunities. But in their practical operation they have reduced employment opportunities in the government establishments itself which are directly under their command and control. They make a public show of requesting private sector to create new employment opportunities whereas the private sector is fundamentally based on the strategy of reducing labor engagement to maximize their profit. The government policy to promote self-employment through small-scale industries and self-employment enterprises is a big fraud. Because the big capitalist forces in the country are hand-in-glove with the government on a project to kill small players. The onslaught of GST on informal sector is another testimony to this fraud which has de-motivated self-employment initiatives of the poor masses. Therefore, unemployment still remains a burning issue that is not being attended by the government.

Nothing is different in the case of poverty. All governments right from the independence made propaganda that given the chance they will eradicate poverty but in reality they have increased the number of poor people and enhanced the gravity and magnitude of poverty. This has to be consciously noticed and responded appropriately. Thus MVS would commit itself to help our students to enhance employment both in organized and unorganized sectors. Through our organizational efforts we will force the government to urgently fill the backlog vacancies and declare new vacancies in the government establishments. Further, we will make special efforts to enhance employment opportunities through our initiatives towards entrepreneurship using our all India network and Mulnivasi Bahujan Market to counter Brahmanical capitalists.

4. Health and Education:

Health and education are the most vital services. However, for the backward classes both these services have been systematically denied by the ruling forces under the influence of Brahmanism. The public health system at grass-root level is in the jeopardized state. The budgetary expenditure on public health revolves around only 1% whereas in other South-East Asian countries it is about 3.5 to 4.5%. It is shocking fact that 75% of India's health care system has been privatized making it largely unaffordable. This indicates that improvising the health Care facilities and accessibility for the indigenous masses is not the priority area of the Brahminical governments.

Same way, primary/elementary education in the government schools is at the verge of collapse. It is being treated useless by the layman as during the implementation of Right to Education Act 2006 the government brought 'No Detention Policy' till class eight. Matriculation and higher secondary school education certificates have remained of no use other than just being the proof of date of birth of the students. For any further education or employment they are forced to pass other competitive examinations like JEE, NEET, CET etc. Also the preparatory coaching classes/institutes charge unbearable amounts to deny the prospects. Every college, institute and university conducts entrance tests for admissions. Thus, the percentage of the qualifying exams (SSC and HSSC) carries no value to them. Same way for jobs, specialized courses need to be attended and competitive examinations (NET, JRF, CLAT, GATE) are to be cleared. There we have to pay heavy fees for entrance registration and use costly technology to appear for examinations that our students cannot afford. Privatization of education has already affected the chances of our students getting admissions to educational institutions of higher learning. The National Education Policy-2016 has clearly spelt out the Brahminical agenda to deny educational opportunities to the backward classes.

In our opinion, these are nothing but the obstacles after obstacles that are being created by Brahmanical forces in our ways. However, they mentally stand shocked by observing hard work and talented performances of our students even in the extreme odd conditions imposed upon them by these Brahmanical forces. But they are exceptional cases and this can not be generalized. Thus, a strong action against this parochialization of health and educational system is urgently warranted. Because in case of poor health quality, performance in education on desired scale is not possible and without quality education of the present generation, quality health and education for future generation could never be brought into reality. Considering this grave situation, we take a call of the time to intervene and provide appropriate leadership to tackle these issues.

5. Development, Environment & Sustainability:

The governments have been speaking for the development of nation for last 60 plus years, but common people are still waiting for the real development. Actually, if we look at the data which measure development in terms of figures, we really find that our GDP (Gross Domestic Product), National Income and Investments are increasing. But when we take into consideration the distribution of the nation's wealth and profits among its people, the inequality prevails on large scale. This inequality becomes more visible in terms of infrastructure development. Mostly, the people in villages and slums are displaced for building the roads, bridges, factories and dams for the luxury of ruling castes. The factories built up under Special Economic Zones (SEZs) are causing damage to the lives of people and their habitations. This environmental damage, however, did not remain limited to the rural and forest areas but even cities are being badly affected. The abysmal situation of environment in Delhi (the national capital of our country) has caused much hue and cry among all kinds of thinkers forcing them to ponder upon the sustainability of the basic natural resources. We are of the opinion that the development at the cost of life of the common people or humanity is no development. It is better to call it 'destruction' or 'distorted development'. We are confident that the cadres of our organization would rise themselves above this situations and take charge of the key positions in their hands to change this scenario in the near future.

6. Women, Children, Differently Abled and Third Gender:

Casteism and patriarchy are the by-products of Manusmriti, which has victimized lower castes and treated women as slaves of men. Women had been denied the right to education, succession and social mobility. Consequently, the position for lower castes and women in the Indian society has remained inferior in status. Although Manusmriti is officially null and void, it still operates through religious sanctions and exists in social norms and mores propagated by Brahminism.

The subordination of women has weakened half of the total population of the country in many ways. The inhuman treatment to women folk is well known to all of us through the annals of the history and from the present day increasing cases of domestic violence, sexual abuse, honor killing, dowry deaths, witch-hunting, mental illnesses, etc. However, the Brahmanical governments who publically speak very high about women have been following the spirit of Mnusmriti in their practical operations thereby overlooking these sufferings of the women in reality.

Similarly, we witness that crores of children belonging to marginalized castes in our country are the victims of care deficit. They are being forced by their social conditions to do labor and earn money for their livelihoods in a very tender age, whereas they should have been in schools. We also see them living on streets and railway platforms with addiction to drugs and exploitation from their work masters and being pushed into criminal activities. This harsh reality of their life does not leave any hope for better future to the children of marginalized sections in India.

The same hopeless situation regarding the Differently Abled and third gendered Persons prevails in our country. Owing to their so called incapacities they are treated with biased and stereotyped attitudes by the commons and the governing forces knowingly or unknowingly. Their fundamental rights are not treated as rights but in dealing with their demands authorities showcase their duties just like a pity on them.

We feel that all the human beings are equal and they must be valued equally in all aspects of our social life. Hence, we are of the view that we must strive to empower those who are the victims of the oppressive social structures. Towards this, we have decided to ensure appropriate representation of women in MVS at all levels of our executive bodies. We have also decided to guide our students to engage themselves with women, children, Differently Abled and third gender belonging to the backward classes and minority communities considering all of them the indigenous people.

In case of school going children our cadres would guide and help them to overcome educational difficulties. We would also try to ensure that the common people change their negative attitudes towards the Women, Differently Abled and third gendered Persons and don't harm their dignity. We are quite hopeful that such a perspective if properly executed will help us in building a just society.

PROGRAMME AND POLICY:

The focus of our organizational activities would be on the students attending university education. Our line of functioning shall follow the three commandment of Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar – “Educate, Organize, Agitate”. This has also a reference to the direction provided by Babasaheb Dr. Ambedkar to the students on the occasion of second national conference of the Scheduled Castes Students Federation in 1946 held at Nagpur wherein the students of our society have been directed by Babasaheb to prove that they are not merely to tread the path of personal happiness but to lead their community to be free, to be strong and to be respected.

Therefore, the first and foremost program of our organization is for the development of leadership amongst our students. Secondly, provide them opportunities to engage themselves with our masses and weaker sections (unorganized youth, women, children etc.) to contribute towards building their consciousness about their rights and ways to avail them. The responsibility to bring this into reality is with our working units established at colleges, universities and residential localities of village, town and cities.

The regular meetings of our executive members and general members as well as well-wishers function as facilitating points. In these meetings the issues of the students related to their educational problems are taken on priority for redressals. The issues of mass awakening through corner meetings, symposiums, public discussions, mass protests for democratic rights etc. are also taken up through discussions and planning in these meetings. Projects of educational guidance and counseling are organized simultaneously. Celebrating birth and death anniversaries of our great leaders remains a regular feature of our programs.

Apart from these the sports, cultural as well as recreational activities provide forums and platforms to our students to enhance their physical and intellectual capacities. All these endeavors are intended to provide an honest, sincere and committed leadership to the society from our students. We cherish a vision that through such organizational efforts and through the achievement of the set objectives mentioned above, we would be able to contribute in the social movement for social revolution based on Phule-Ambedkarite ideology as envisaged in the preamble of the constitution of India.

APPEAL

While presenting this introduction of MVS and in approaching the students of our society to solicit their membership, we appeal to their conscience to positively respond to our call and expect their whole hearted participation in terms of time, talent and dedication for the success of Mulnivasi Bahujan movement in India.

Jai Bhim!

Jai Mulnivasi!!

Jai Bharat!!!

THE GREAT MESSAGE

“Noble is your aim and glorious is your mission. Blessed are those who are awakened to their duty to those among they are born. Glory to those who devote their time, talent and their all to the annihilation of slavery. Glory to those who would keep on their struggle for liberation of the enslaved inspite of heavy odds, carping humiliations, storms and dangers till the downtrodden secure their human rights.”

– Babasaheb Dr. Ambedkar
